SIR,

I am directed to forward herewith the copy of the following petition dated the 10th instant from certain residents of the Basavanagudi extension, Bangalore City, requesting that great inconvenience caused to the public by the defunct fountain erected in the road adjacent to the Ganesh temple at the place, be removed. I inspected the spot and assure you that real inconvenience is caused. The fountain still now serving the purpose of a cattle trough was originally intended for the purpose of marriage use, and for the purposes of the Anjaneyaswami temple and the adjacent devotees. A small water course is now taken from the fountain for cattle. The water which is wasted by the present water trough is collected in a
